Dear GP

We are coming to the end of our second series of GP lectures, which I hope you have found both enjoyable and informative. Please see our Upcoming Events section for dates and details of our last two lectures.

At the end of the series Victoria will be sending out attendance certificates, but she will also be sharing a questionnaire link about how we conduct our lectures going forward, your feedback will be vital in our decision making (unless of course our hand is forced due to restrictions), so can I ask you all to respond. If you haven't attended our lectures, but would like to comment, please email Victoria directly marketing@litfieldhouse.co.uk and she will send you a link.

We have an exciting line-up speakers already in place for our third and final series of the year (starting late September), these will be announced in July. The format will continue to be virtual this year, so any changes will start in 2022.
